FEELING AT HOME

"Project Access has made me feel comfortable to walk outside and say hello to people I see at the Resource Center."

GUADALUPE, 70
MEADOWBROOK
SAN DIEGO, CA

Guadalupe is a retired, single mother. She has little socialization now that her daughter works and her grandson goes to school. Feeling that her limited English would make it difficult to get to know her neighbors, she'd choose to spend her days inside the house instead.

After receiving a flyer, Guadalupe met with Project Access staff for help. For weeks, they taught her basic computer skills before enrolling her in an online English course. She came to the center three times a week and eventually her English improved.

Today, Guadalupe is more comfortable communicating with her neighbors. Her confidence skyrocketed and she even volunteered to lead a cooking class. She now feels more connected to her community.
